NEW YORK, July 20.—Private letters from well informed sources in Cuba reiterate the statement that hostilities are practically at an end for the present, owing to the prevalence of cholera and yellow fever.

A Havana letter in the Tribune, dated the 13th, says: A story has reached here from Sagua Lachia that some eight hundred men, coming from Charleston, had landed there, well armed, and Villaniel had united his forces with them. It is also stated that soon after this the insurgent troops were attacked by troops and badly beaten. The losses of the latter were very large.

Recently a bark left Baltimore with twenty-four thousand stand of arms and one hundred and seventy thousand rounds of ammunition for Cuba. She got off without trouble, professing to be loaded with hay, and reached her destination successfully. It is understood another vessel is likely to sail for the same port similarly freighted.

There are quite a number of visitors here at present and extensive preparations are being made for the Grant reception, to be given on Monday evening next.

Larson, charged with being concerned in making, selling and using counterfeit revenue stamps, were brought before Commissioner Shields for an examination to-day. Bernon admitted making the plates, and was held in default of $10,000 bail for the action of the grand jury. Patsy, Frank, and Chavane all waived an examination, and were held in default of $5,000 bail for the action of the grand jury. Larson demanded an examination, which resulted in a similar disposition of his case.

There are several children in the family.

[By telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, July 20.—The Senter Republicans nominated, to-day, as candidates to represent this county in Legislature, for Senator, H. H. Harrison: Representatives, J. W. P. Tramere and Jas. Lindsley—all Radical, but in favor of removing the political disabilities of the disfranchised.

The newly appointed Registers are largely increasing the number of persons admitted to the ballot box. In East Tennessee this gives much offense to Republicans opposed to enfranchisement, and troubles are apprehended at the polls on election day.

Alleged Virginia Election Frauds—Homicide Trial—Distillery Seizures in North Carolina—Death of an Editor—Ben. Wade—New Fractional Currency.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1869.

VIRGINIA ELECTION—ALLEGED FRAUDS.

Colonel Whittlesey and a number of Virginia Radicals are now here getting up documents to prove that the election in Virginia was carried by fraud. Affidavits are being prepared, and will be placed before the Reconstruction Committee at the meeting of Congress. It is hoped by this to have the election set aside, or else have an investigation held, and thus delay the admission of the State.

HOMICIDE CASE—MIXED JURY.

The trial of Millie Gaines, colored, for the murder of James C. Ingle, a white man, watchman in the Interior Department, in March last, terminated to-day. According to her own story, she had been on terms of improper intimacy with the deceased, with the prospect of becoming a mother. She had threatened to kill Ingle and a lady whom he had escorted to the inauguration reception. Minnie was subsequently interrogated by him, when she repeated the threat, whereupon he drew a pistol and placed it to her head, but could not discharge it. The accused had asked him for money, in view of her anticipated offspring, when he repulsed her. A short time after this scene she took advantage of his lying on a lounge at the boarding house in which she was a servant, and killed him with a axe or hatchet. The counsel for the defense set up the plea of insanity, and numerous witnesses were examined on this point. The father of the prisoner showed that from the time of her great grand-parents to the present period insanity had been a ruling affliction of the family. The jury, after an absence of two minutes, returned with a verdict of not guilty. Six jurors were white and the other six colored. This is the first murder trial in the District of Columbia in which the latter race served as jurors.

DEATH OF AN EDITOR.

Col. L. A. Whitely, of Kentucky, died here this evening of consumption. Col. Whitely was associate editor of the Louisville Journal during the rise, triumphs and fall of the Know-Nothing party of Kentucky, and for many years controlled the Baltimore Clipper. Subsequently he had charge of the Washington bureau of the New York Herald, and during the past few years had filled a prominent position on the National Intelligencer, of this city.

DISTILLERY SEIZURES.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has received information of the seizure of eight illicit distilleries in Watt county, North Carolina. There are twenty-five or thirty more distilleries in that section. The Collector says the whisky is consumed in the vicinity of the distilleries.

IN THE CITY.

Ben Wade is here. He highly lauds Secretary Boutwell's policy; is sore over the result of the Virginia election; thinks we ought to enter a wedge for the separation of Cuba from Spanish rule, and says he will probably stump Ohio for Governor Hayes.

NEW CURRENCY.

The Treasurer has issued fifty thousand dollars' worth of new ten-cent and eighteen thousand dollars' worth of new fifteen-cent fractional currency. The new twenty-five and fifty-cent notes will not probably be issued before the 1st of August.

The Conservative negroes are raising a subscription to defray the expenses of indicting Cochran, a radical negro, for mobbing them, and inciting to riot, at the recent election in this city.

—Col. C. G. Hammond, appointed General Superintendent of the Union Pacific Railroad, accepted the position on condition that the differences with the Central Pacific Railroad be compromised, so as to admit of good service to the public and fair rates. —George Peabody, Esq., arrived at New York, on Monday, from Newport, R. I., and left for White Sulphur Springs, Va., yesterday. While in New York he spent some time in selecting out the various securities composing the $1,000,000 donation recently promised by him to the Trustees of the Southern Educational Fund, consisting mostly of State and railroad coupon bonds. The package, when made up, filled a tin box of the size of a small traveling trunk, and a carriage was called in requisition to carry it to its destination.

—A Leavenworth dispatch says the Evening Call, of last Saturday, has an article in which it is stated the old Indian Ring has transferred its operations from the Indian Bureau to the military. It claims that at the recent letting, at the District Headquarters at Chicago, of a contract to supply the Indians of Dakota with beef, Mr. Fenton, the partner of ex-Governor Carney was awarded the contract at $4 45, when as the Call claims, Mr. Mathew Ryan, of St. Louis, had a bid in at $2 75, and D. H. Mitchell at $3 29 per hundred pounds. The Call also claims that Mr. Ryan, as an inducement not to take the contract at $2 75, was taken in as a partner by Carney, D. H. Mitchell & Co., and was paid eight thousand dollars to secure the same object. Fenton, Carney's partner, of course, got the contract. The article excites considerable comment.

—A Quincy, Illinois, dispatch says: The late rains here so damaged the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad, between Hannibal and Palmyra, that trains have ceased running between those points at present. Between this place and Palmyra a large part of the country is inundated, and railroad trains run with difficulty. The Toledo, Wabash and Western Railroad is much damaged. No trains left Monday morning, and no trains arrived from Friday night till Sunday night. Over thirty feet of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad has been washed away near Augusta. On Saturday night the passenger train narrowly escaped running into the break where the water poured through like a river. A large quantity of wheat in shock has been carried away by high creeks in Adams county. South Hannibal is inundated, and over sixty thousand feet of lumber have been washed away.

ACCORDING to observations made by G. Davidson, Astronomer United States Coast Survey, on the night of the 28th of February, 1869, at San Francisco, California, on a loop of telegraphic wire extending thence to Cambridge, Massachusetts, and returning to San Francisco, the return signals being received on a chronograph near that receiving the outgoing signal, it was found that the total interval of time between the two signals amounted to eight-tenths of one second. The entire wire was divided into eleven portions, of about 650 miles each, and connected by repeaters, which sent from one portion to the next a new electric current, having a greater speed than the original one would have had if continued beyond the first reach of 650 miles. It will be seen that the actual rate of transmission of each current over 650 miles cannot be deduced from these data by dividing the whole time by 11, but we are assured that the practical speed of a series of currents combined by relays is at the rate of 7,200 miles in 0.8 of a second.

MR. BRIGHT, at the Trinity House dinner in London the other day, says the New York Times, said in congratulation, that the commerce of England was before that of any other nation—equal to that of all the world. Strange, that with all this commercial increase, the pauper population of the island should have doubled within the last ten years—as was lately shown at a London Poor law union meeting. As regards Ireland—that other piece of the Kingdom—Hon. Mr. Ingersoll, in a letter to a Chicago paper, declares that the island "is desolate beyond conception." The commercial glory of England is evidently no test of her civilization; and some of the greatest Englishmen have denounced commerce as a demoralization, sustaining merely the luxury of the upper classes. In this respect we might parody the words of Goldsmith:

"Ill fares the land, to hastening grief a prey,
Where wine accumulate and men decay.

HANK MONK, who drove Mr. Greeley so rapidly and joltingly down the mountain descent into Placerville as to coerce the most vigorous Saxon out of the mouth of the philosopher, and to make him howl in sincerity "just once" for "protection," still lives to tell the story, which he does to every casual traveler.

THE youngest child of the Emperor of Austria is to be brought up an English Princess. Her mother has appointed an English unmarried lady to be head of her household (which is to be composed of English people); her nurse has been English, and the first tongue she learns is to be English. It is quite likely the child is to be trained up to be the wife of an English Prince.

WHEN Marshal Serrano was inducted into office as Regent of Spain, four maces preceded him, arrayed in all the glory of robes of crimson velvet, artistically decorated with crowns and other insignia of royalty in gold, with red velvet caps, surmounted by enormous ostrich feathers of snowy white. These marched solemnly in front, and at the steps of the platform divided, fronting the Regent.

THE New York Sun learns that the important office of editor of the New York Times has been offered to the Hon. John Bigelow, and that he holds the offer under consideration. The attractions are said to consist of a salary of $10,000 a year, with a large interest in the proprietorship of the paper on very favorable terms. As Mr. Bigelow had just completed his arrangements for a protracted residence in Europe, he naturally hesitates to change his plans.

THE consumption of beer at Munich and throughout all Bavaria is something wonderful. It is emphatically the national beverage, employing something like six thousand establishments, which make over an hundred million gallons every year, and, though lightly taxed, the amount from this source paid into the Treasury is more than one-half of the entire revenue of this prosperous Kingdom. The banks of the Main produce good wines, but beer is the universal drink, given to the women, and to children from their earliest infancy almost, and drunkenness consequently is of rare occurrence.

ALEXANDER VON HUMBOLDT'S posthumous papers, which are said to contain many exceedingly valuable and interesting essays, will be published next year, by Cotta, of Stuttgart.

The Mast Hope Disaster—The Engineer of the Freight Train in Jail—What He has to Say—Funeral of the Victims.

James Griffin, the engineer who, it is averred, by his own carelessness sent eight or more souls into eternity by the horrible disaster at Mast Hope, Penna., was arrested, as announced in the city papers, at Salamanca. A detective at that place took him to Great Bend, Penna., where a warrant from the authorities was issued, and he was arrested and placed in charge of officers until the arrival of police from Port Jervis and constable from Pike county, who put him on board the first train east, arriving in Port Jervis Friday at noon. Upon the arrival of the train carriages were in waiting, and he was quietly conducted to one of them, and immediately started for Milford, the county seat of Pike county. A crawd had congregated at the depot to get a glimpse of the prisoner; but the railway officials managed the affair so quietly that he was on his way to jail ere his friends or the curious could catch a glimpse of him. At Milford he was given in charge of Sheriff Cornelinson, who placed him in jail. We understand an effort will be made to secure his release on bail. The prisoner states that he was asleep at the time of the accident, and pulled the throttle of his engine while in a dreamy and half unconscious state. He says he is extremely sorry, but that he ought not to be punished severely. He confesses that he was to blame in allowing himself to go to sleep, but thinks his fireman was asleep also, and says that he depended on his fireman. He adds that he means to tell the whole truth, and that no man ever worked harder for promotion and the interests of the road than he. He states that after the accident he went to Lackawaxen, by the advice of friends, and then to his home in Susquehanna. Having a sister living near Salamanca, his wife and friends advised and urged him to stay with his sister unlil the affair had blown over, and he could return in safety. He did not mean to run away.

The prisoner is small in stature, and seems reconciled to his arrest, but seems somewhat fearful that he will be rigorously dealt with.

The bodies of the victims of the disaster, who have not been identified, were placed in neat coffins, and on Friday were interred in Laurel Grove Cemetery, in one grave, side by side. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Messrs. Mansfield, Botsford and Vancleve. A large concourse of citizens followed the funeral cortege to the cemetery. Monday afternoon the funeral of David Baer, the German who was killed and burned, took place from the German Lutheran Church. His remains were interred in the cemetery.

The Coming Wedding in New York.

The wedding of the Baron Lemme and Miss Ellen W. Throckmorton, of New York, recently referred to in the Home Journal, will be solemnized on Wednesday, the 21st inst., at noon, at the residence of Miss Throckmorton's uncle, Mr. Conkling, on Fifth avenue. It was originally intended that the wedding should be celebrated in grand style, at Christ church, and arrangements were made accordingly, portions of the bride's trosseau having been imported from Paris; but a recent bereavement in the young lady's family necessitates a private and rather quiet marriage. Miss Throckmorton will be married in a simple silk traveling suit, and will be attended by Miss Cheever, of Boston, as bridesmaid. A young German gentleman of wealth and title will officiate as the baron's "best man" on the occasion. At the close of the ceremony the groom will give a dejeuner, and at its conclusion will start with his bride for Saratoga, where apartments have been secured at a leading hotel. The couple will visit many of the watering places this summer, and in August they contemplate sailing for Europe. Miss Throckmorton has already been the recipient of many handsome wedding gifts, some of which, sent from abroad, are particularly elegant. Although late in the season for weddings, this approaching hymenial event is exciting the fashionable world, and will most undoubtedly create a great social sensation.

THE Treasury Department yesterday issued the first instalment of the new fractional currency, of the denomination of ten cents. Other denominations will be out by the 1st of August. The vignettes of the new currency are not to contain the likeness of any living person. On the left of the ten cent note is the vignette of a girl, while on the right is the seal of the Treasury, and the back is endorsed the same as the notes of the old issue. The fifteen cent notes will bear a representation of the dome of the capitol, and the head of Washington is substituted for that of Mr. Fessenden on the twenty-five cent notes, while Mr. Lincoln's face will replace that of Mr. Spinner on the fifty cent. notes. The paper for these notes is superior to that of the currency now in use, and altogether their execution is an improvement. The bronzing on the old notes is replaced by the red seal on the new ones.

ONE of the most ferocious brigands who infest Southern Italy was formerly a Capuchin friar. He spent the last winter in Rome under the protection of the Papal Government, and, on the return of spring, he appeared once more in the mountains of Calabria, where he distinguished himself by murdering in cold blood four peasants and a youth only twelve years old. This religious brigand promises to surpass in cruelty the famous Fra Diavola.

CLEVELAND boasts of a "first-class" concert-saloon, where female "beer jerkers" do abound; the Sunday laws are as openly violated as ever; the streets, especially in the vicinity of the park after nightfall, are the resort of women of questionable reputation; and all in all, the city seems to be gravitating toward a degree of degeneracy humiliating to contemplate.

NOT only is the coming Count Adair in receipt of an income of $1,000 a day, but his bride is a ten million heiress.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.

FROM THE GERMAN OF GRUN.

The Count he was riding home one day,
But meeting his groom upon the way—
"Where you going, groom?" said he,
"And where do you come from? answer me."

"I'm taking a walk for exercise sake,
And besides there's a house I want to take."
"To take a house!" said the Count. "Speak out,
What are the folks at home about?"

"Not much has happened," the servant said,
"Only your little white dog is dead."
"Do you tell me my faithful dog is dead?
And how did this happen?" the master said.

"Well, your horse took fright and jumped on the hound,
Then ran to the river and there got drowned."
"My noble steed! the stables pride!
"What frightened him?" the master cried.

"'Twas when, if I remember well,
Your son from the castle window fell."
"My son! but I hope he escaped with life,
And is tenderly nursed by my loving wife."

"Alas! the good Countess has passed away,
For she dropped down dead where her dead son lay."
"Why, then, in time of such trouble and grief,
Are you not taking care of the castle, you thief?"

"The castle, I wonder which you mean!
Of yours but the ashes are now to be seen,
As the watcher slept, misfortune direc
In a moment her hair and her clothes took fire.

"The castle around her blazed up in a minute,
And all the household have perished in it,
And of them all fate spared but me,
Thus gently to break the news to thee."

DEBILITY IN CHILDREN.

Mischiefs of Overtaxing Children in School—Disease and Death.

At the recent meeting of the Wisconsin State Medical Society, a paper was read by Dr. Waterhouse, of Portage City, on the subject of Debility in Children, especially with reference to the evils of overtaxing children in our schools, the facts and suggestions of which were deemed so valuable that a resolution was adopted, requesting its general publication by the press, for which purpose it has been revised by the author. We copy a few passages:

"In our common schools of the present day—everywhere, but more especially in cites and the larger villages, where the best teachers are sought and generally obtained—every inducement, every incentive that can be devised and brought to bear to stimulate and encourage study is faithfully and persistently applied. The consequence is that many of our brightest and best children of from six to ten years of age are performing more study, more mental labor, than most of the business men, or more than their teachers. I am aware that many children are sluggish in temperament, and will bear and seem to require great urging to get them to learn; yet, with many of this class, it is their rapid growth that takes away their energy, and even ability to study; and, consequently, you must fail to get them to learn much until they cease to grow so rapidly; or, if you succeed in getting study out of them, you induce anæmia. What else can you expect? You cannot get more from the blood than there is in it; and since the blood must supply nourishment to the brain, and the body and all its organs, for their growth, besides repairing the waste of all their exertions, it follows that, whenever you tax that fluid beyond its income, anæmia is the result.

"For the pvrpose of illustrating this matter more perfectly than I could otherwise do, I describe the case of a bright, intelligent girl of about twelve years of age, of good form and of previous good health, who began early in January last to decline in health and strength. She had cold feet and hands, weak pulse, universal paleness of the skin; the lips and tongue were absolutely white; and dizziness on rising from a recumbent posture, swelling of the feet in the after part of the day, the effect of gravitation. The blood vessels, being too weak to carry the blood upward, or even support, for any length of time, it naturally gravitates away from the head to the feet. She had constipation. palpitation of the heart upon slight exertion, and general muscular prostration. Upon questioning the parents as to the history of the case, it appeared that she had been attending school from the beginning of the winter term, had studied hard, and learned well, in all the branches usually taught in the city High School, and showing good qualities in music, she had been pressed forward rapidly in that; and, in addition, she was a good reader, and had been in the habit of reading after her lessons in music and otherwise books and papers ad libitum. After a careful scrutiny of the case, and finding no local disease, nor other rational cause for the anæmia, I came to the conclusion that it was from overtaxing the brain. She was accordingly taken from school, and her music and reading considerably restricted. Gave her preparations of iron, and she rapidly improved and finally recovered.

"Another girl of about ten years of age, a sprightly, brilliant child of high-wrought, nervous temperament, of good form and of previous good health began about two years ago to have convulsions or epileptiform spasms. The child was attending school and learning fast, indeed, excelling most of the other children of her age. On examination there appeared indigestion and moderate anæmia, with functional torpidity of the liver and bowels. The convulsions were controlled by chloroform, oil of turpentine, oil of amber, &c., and the child was taken from school, and no further trouble occurred until the next term of school, when indigestion came on, and she again had convulsions which were contracted as before; but, owing to the entreaties of the child, she was allowed to continue in school; and, notwithstanding the most careful regulations of diet and the administration of tonics, the convulsions continued from week to week until she was removed from school, and her study and reading restricted, when the convulsions ceased; and since that time, at each recurring term of school, the child has been allowed to attempt study, and each time had a return of indigestion and convulsions.

"Another, of about twelve years of age, of lively, nervous temperament, rather tall and of delicate frame and constitution, became, during each school term, more or less anaemic; had indigestion with all its usual concomitants; and in addition, developed choroea (St. Vitus's Dance.) This child, on being taken from school and treated to preparations of bismuth and iron, recovered well.

"And thus this list might be extended indefinitely, and include persons of all ages; and though I believe it is not as frequent in males as in females, yet it is very often seen in boys, and not unfrequently in ministers and other professional men addicted to hard study. It is not pretended that all children who go to school, nor even a majority, are thus taxed beyond their capacity; but I am confident there are more of such cases among us—especially among the most promising children—than people are generally aware of. Anæmia of the brain, itself, is believed to be by far the most frequent cause of the convusions of children and others; and considering the effect of gravity on the column of blood in an anæmic person in the upright posture, and the fact that the skull is a close cavity, and exactly filled by its appropriate structures when the blood vessels are full, it is evident that the effect of any drain upon the veins downward, or failure in the arteries to carry the due amount upward, must be to form a vacuum, and a consequent suspension, for the time being at least, of all the functions of life. The individual is said to be faint, and either falls or is laid down, and the force of gravity thus directed as much to the head as to other parts, the brain is again supplied with its natural stimulant, and the fainting is over. In view of all this, the wonder is, not that we have so many cases of the various low forms of brain diseases—such as softening, tubercular, meningitis, hydrocephalus, insanity, idiocy, &c.—but that we do not have more of it.

"The natural pride of parents in their children leads them, in many cases, into over-anxiety to have them excel in school, or fear, in other cases, that their daughters may not properly finish their education, music and other accomplishments before the time arrives when they will get married, which period, now-a-days, is placed a number of days earlier than it formerly was, or ought to be. These, combined with the uppermost thought in the American mind, that the best interests of their children and their country demand that every exertion should be made to hasten and perfect the education of the rising generation, then the industry and ambition of teachers to excel one another and please the patrons of the schools, and their laudable desire, in the general interests of education, to advance their scholars with the greatest possible speed, as well as their particular pride in the brightest and most apt ones—all this, though well for the interests of education in general, has the inevitable tendency to overtax a cerlain class, just as any law, adopted for the general good, will bear heavily on certain individuals, so in this case, in the general anxiety and exertion to educate children, many of the best ones are killed or ruined in health.

"I am satisfied that many of those sorrowful-looking, sickly, hystericky females and others, afflicted with dyspepsia, consumption, rickets, &c., &c., may date their loss of health back to their school days, when they, either voluntarily or by compulsion, were too many hours getting too many and too long lessons.

"I am confident that many cases of anaemia in children, from over taxation in school go on unrecognized, and are perhaps attributable to liver complaint or some other equally vague local disease, and treated in all methods, from allopathy down through homoepathy, hydropathy and every other pathy, and patent medicines, from wizzard oil to Townsend's sarsaparilla, while the real cause is allowed to continue to operate until the child is past recovery.

"In nearly every group of children I meet on their way to or from school, I notice one or more of these anæmics. The pale face, the white lips, the bony fingers, the sober and care-worn aspect, are not to be mistaken; and I know very well that this or that child is going to fail before the term closes, unless the pressure of study is diminished. But, says the parent or teacher, or both, the child is not getting exercise enough in the open air. So, in addition to overtaxing the brain, the muscular system is now put to the test, and the child is plied with every inducement to extra play, long walks and the like; and the diet is regulated, perhaps, to a strictly vegetable basis—and then mirable dictu! the child perversely continues to get worse."

Parents and teachers are often not as watchful nor thoughtful as they should be in regard to the amount of mental and muscular exercise a child is performing. Parents of ordinary judgment ought to be able to see—when a child is attending school and progressively declining in strength and activity, and without other rational cause for such decline—that the child is undergoing exhaustion, more especially if the child is a precocious one, and growing rapidly, and at once limit or suspend altogether its study at school, its reading, music, or other mental exercises at home.

The teacher in the school room stands, or ought to stand, as the representative of the parent, for the time being, and if the trust confided to him to educate be a sacred one, that of guarding the health is not less so, and he ought to be sufficiently acquainted with physiological laws and the operation of cause and effect, to be able to recognize the different effects of study on different pupils, and honest and humane enough to limit or suspend it from those that are failing.

If it were a question to be decided, whether the health or education must suffer, even then the former must be preserved at the expense of the latter; but there is no such alternative presented as a rule. If you will have patience and wait till the child has passed the period of rapid growth, there will be time enough, and the individual will perform much more study in a given time, with more profit, than at any time previously.

It is my belief that a majority of our best and most promising children are carrying on too many branches, are studying too many hours in the day, and too many days in the year, and that it is the duty of parents, teachers, physicians and school officers to consult each other oftener than they do in regard to this subject, to the end that our schools may subserve the great end designed in their establishment, with a less admixture of evil.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness and Impoteney, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhœa, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET. (near Court House. Pittsburgh, Pa

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY July 20, 1869.

There was more activity in oil to-day, the volume of business having been unusually large, while in regard to prices there is no material change. The feeling between the "bulls" and "bears" seemed to be a little warmer than usual, as there was a good deal of sparring on both sides, and it was difficult for an outsider to tell who had the advantage. It seems that there was a sale reported which was not altogether satisfactory to the "bulls," and by way of retaliation, they made regular onslaught on one of the parties implicated in the transaction, daring him, as it were, to duplicate it which, for reasons best known to himself, he declined. It was alleged that it was a "washed sale," that is manufactured for the occasion and for a specific purpose. That the sale was bona fide, we have no reason to doubt, as it was rereported by a party who, although he has grown grey in business, his reputation for integrity and truthfulness, we have never heard questioned.

OIL BARRELS.

Very dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, prices are lower. Country barrels are quoted at $1,75 on wharf; and city barrels at $1,85@1,95, as to size, delivered.

CRUDE.

Sale 5,000 bbls, seller all year, at 13¾; 2,000 seller last three months at 14½. July seller quoted at 14¾@14¾; we are cognizant of offers to buy seller to November 1st at 14½. Subsequent to this sale above reported for all year, at 13¾, there were several offers to buy at 14.

REFINED.

Sale 500 each October to December, at 33; 1000 each same months at 33; 4,500, in lots, for July, at 31¼; and 5000 same delivery at 31¾. Private advices from Philadelphia report sales of some sixteen thousand barrels of July oil, and it is probable that the 9,500 bbls above reported were embraced in this 16,000.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was apparently, about at a stand last evening with thirteen feet six inches in the channel by the Monongahela mark. The rise is mainly in the Monongahela, the Allegheny not being able this time to keep pace with its rival. The weather continues cloudy and unsettled with occasinoal showers. Mercury at 5 P. M. 84 in the shade.

The New York is the only arrival we have to report. The Belle got in from Cincinnati on Monday evening, and has entered the Pittsburgh and Parkersburg trade. She will leave to-day on her first trip, in command of Capt. T W. Laughrey. The New York brought up Noyes' Circus troupe.

The Julia for Zanesville, was the only departure.

The Glasgow from St. Paul, and R. C. Gray from St. Louis, are among the first boats due.

The Lorena, Capt. Sam Shuman, is filling up steadily and will be the first boat out for St. Louis.

The Messenger was loading at St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Monday.

There is no improvement to note in business, nor is it expected that there will be for a month at least. It is to be regretted, that the river keeps in such excellent condition for navigation, and business dull, bnt there is no help for it.

—The Terre Haute Express, of Saturday, reports a rise of several feet in the Wabash.

—There has been a big rise in Muskingum river, consequent on heavy rains above Zanesville.

—A new bridge is to be built over the Kentucky river at Brooklyn, to cost probaly in the neighborhood of $50,000.

—An oil boat containing several hundred barrels of oil, owned by Church & Alexander, of Parkersburg, caught fire on Tuesday, while in tow by the Oil City, above Marietta. The boat was cut loose from the steamer, and allowed to float off. The oil was entirely lost.

—A late St. Louis paper says: Capt. J. C. Vanhook, of the Great Republic, arrived in town from Chicago yesterday morning, but departed again for that sweet-scented burg last evening. We shall disown him if he remains much longer in those virtuous precincts, and we hope that, for the honor of his magnificent steamer, he will soon return.

—The Little Rock Republican of the 12th, contains the following paragraph: There is one remarkable fact connected with our river trade which, perhaps may have been forgotton—that while packets reached our port from Cincinnati once each month, last summer, none has arrived here this season for two months past, nor likely for the next three.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Gazette of Monday: The R. C. Gray left for Pittsburgh, Saturday, with all the freight she wanted, and, notwithstanding she was not prepared to carry passengers, she had about twenty-five, who could not be turned away. Her passenger receipts this trip will be nearly $500. Pilots, James Shouse and Wm. Hall.

—The New Albany Commercial of Saturday says: Maj. Gen. Weitzel, who, in addition to his other duties, has recently been placed in charge of the entire Ohio River Improvement, on yesterday awarded the following important contracts: To J. H. Dennis, the contract for dredging, at Wheeling Island, Buffington Island, and Rising Sun, and Warsaw bars, and the furnishing of rip-rap stone at Medoc bar. To Routh & Watts, the contract for rip-rap stone at Rising Sun bar, and to Meyers & Kerr the rip-rap stone at Warsaw bar. The work on these improvements will be pushed with great vigor, with a view to its completion at the earliest possible period.

THE CONSERVATIVE SHAM.

It is reported from the Federal Capital that a delegation of the Virginia Radicals are in that city for the purpose of organizing a Congressional opposition to any approval of the recent election in that State. It is worth no one's while to predicate upon this movement results of any special moment. There is an almost universal public conviction that this election was conducted fairly, and that its issue, no matter how distasteful in the main to an earnestly Radical opinion, has been legitimately reached through the regular operations of the measure expressly provided by Congress for the pacification of the State. We have seen no substantial, or even plausible, reasons for doubting that this conviction is well-founded.

The simple fact that a very large and hostile element in the population of Virginia has not consented to support the spirit of the Congressional policy, at the polls, is supplemented by another fact, equally clear, that the same element has taken a punctilious care to adhere in the minutest particulars to the letter of that policy, as promulgated in the statutes and the executive orders based thereupon. We hear hints of but a single exception to this faithful acceptance of the legal situation by the people; it may be that a greater or less number of the elected members of the legislature will be found to be disqualified for office until the new Constitution shall have actually obtained the Federal sanction. Gen. CANBY has initiated an enquiry on this point which will reveal all the facts. The new instrument does not recognize the disqualification which we allude to, and which would not stand in the way at all if the assemblage of the Legislature were deferred until after the sanction of Congress had been given. But the peculiarity of the case is, that the Legislature is required to assemble, and to act upon the new Article first, in order to complete all the conditions which Congress has exacted. It follows that the present disqualification will hold for all that preliminary action.

There is only one explanation for the apparent oversight of the Conservative politicians in failing to reckon this intermediate exclusion of the disqualified members in their calculations. They evidently had reasons for presuming that the iron-clad oath, as it is called, would not be insisted on by the Federal authority. What these reasons were, we do not care to enquire. It is enough to know, 1st, that the authority to dispense with that requirement nowhere exists; 2nd, that the discretion which should have assumed to exercise such an authority without legal warrant, would have been in the highest degree reprehensible; and, 3d, that the authority has not been assumed in point of fact. If the Virginia Democracy have expected Gen. CANBY, with or without express orders from his superiors, to ignore the plain terms of existing legislation, they have been sorely disappointed. We are not willing to believe that they have had any show of encouragement for their expectations at Washington.

Beyond the hitch in this matter of the qualifying oath, we can find no evidence whatever that the reconstruction laws have been disregarded by the people of Virginia. We have no proof, not even any plausible allegations, that the election, taking the State altogether, was conducted unfairly. We can find nothing, in the canvass or at the hustings, to complain of, except that the votes have not counted out in favor of our Radical friends. And from this complaint we hardly need add that we are not sanguine of any specially profitable results. In short, we feel that we express but the general judgment of the Republican party, in anticipating the unhesitating approbation of Congress for the proceedings of the Convention and people of Virginia. In this judgment, we have the concurrence of Mr. Boutwell, whom earnest and thorough-going Republicans everywhere have come of late to regard with special confidence as an uncompromising supporter of the Radical doctrines and policy of our party. That gentleman holds, as we do, that the election was fairly in accordance with law, and that no plea remains for excluding Virginia from her Federal rights.

Of course, that transparent political sham which is known in that State, as in some other States of the South, as "Conservative Republicanism," will vanish, like a soap-bubble, invisibly into space, in the hour that witnesses their Federal restoration. Although a sham, it has answered its purpose in the disintegration of the Union feeling as a political element, and in the temporarily fatal division of a party which was wholly one unit eighteen months ago. That it succeeded at all was due to the single fact that the Republican party of that date was composed in part of earnest and intelligent believers in those radical doctrines which are the life-blood of our political organization, and, in another part, of that class of trimming adventurers who became Republicans only because they saw a present profit in the association. Not one of the first class has given his suffrage in the majority just triumphant in Virginia, and not one of the other class has neglected this same opportunity to abandon a party which had never a charm for any but thinking and sincere men. Virginia Republicanism has finally, in a salutary defeat, sloughed off its unsound elements—to stand hereafter, as true Republicanism ought everywhere to stand, radically uncompromising in its fidelity to the living and moving principles of an equal and fraternal liberty.

There is no such thing as a Conservative Republicanism in this country. It is radical, or it is worse than nothing. It holds fast to the ideas of individual right which a common Creator has implanted in every human heart, and which flourish in their admirable development under the beneficent influences of Christian knowledge. Rooted so immoveably, the growth of these ideas shall yet over-shadow humanity throughout the planet. Then we see all that there is of the Conservative element in Radical Republicanism, while no living eye can measure or define any limit to its expansive progress through all the ages to come. That progress is itself Radical Republicanism, and the Conservatism, which it seems to be the present fashion in some quarters to defend, is its deadliest enemy. We want none of it. Republicanism, purely and simply radical, is to be forever an inextinguishable element of American politics. Who is not for it is against it. Whosoever may flatter himself that this sort of radicalism is to be sneered at, or trifled with, or tought down, or quietly smothered, or thrust out of the field as a living and potent influence with a liberty-loving people, makes a sad—it may be for himself a fatal—mistake.

The Republican party have heretofore taken all the needful bonds of the traitors in their midst; an exemplary experience has purged their ranks so effectually that they have no fears for any new treasons. The peril now most to be feared comes, not from any deliberate infidelity on the part of those whom it trusts, but simply from their neglect to entertain a correct perception of the thorough-going extremity of the true Radical doctrine, or to manifest that perception in the execution of their trusts. Here is the only peril which now threatens the supremacy of Republican opinions—and it will be no compensation, for the disasters that may come, to see that these are shared, as they would be by those who have been responsible for bringing them upon us.

THE REPUDIATORS.

Last year's Democratic demands for the taxation of the public bonds, and for their greenback redemption, were simply the reconnoisances of their partizan skirmish-line upon the entrenchments of the National faith. That campaign, like the one now opening, had but one real objective point—the repudiation of the public debt. Worsted as they were in the preliminary fight of '68, the opposition no longer care to conceal the real point of attack. Repudiation is the cry which begins to come up from the entire Democratic line. The Pendletonians, through their organ, the Cincinnati Enquirer, significantly say that the policy, like the word, is becoming a familiar one, and sounds to the popular ear like a mere synonym for a substantial and grateful relief from a burthen too oppressive to be borne with patience. The Brick Pomeroy school of the party throughout the North and West have stood squarely upon that ground for a year past. The influence of that school of Democratic partizanship may be judged of from the fact that it furnished for PACKER'S money the adroit engineers who consummated last week's scandalous sale of the Democratic party to the Nabob of the Lehigh. Pomeroy himself and all the little Bricks are red-hot repudiators. Throughout the South it is also the popular doctrine—it would be natural for any people to be averse to the payment of a debt which represents the cost of their well-deserved humiliation. It was only last week that Mr. J. S. GOLLIDAY, a Democratic Representative from Kentucky, and now a candidate for the Federal Senate, made, at Louisville, a flaming speech in behalf of the avowed doctrine of his party. We quote from the report in the Courier-Journal, a print of the same politics:

Mr. G. said that after a full examination of the thousand and one ways proposed, in and out of Congress, he saw no solution of the public debt question but that of repudiation of the whole bonded debt of the government, after having withdrawn the circulation of all national banks giving up their bonds and issuing greenbacks payable in gold and silver, to protect the citizen.

That is the Democratic doctrine, not only in the South, but here in Pennsylvania, although the opposition here have not yet had the manliness to make an equally straight-out declaration. They will all come to it, in a year or two more, and with such an unanimity that, if they can only contrive to hold their rickety and broken-winded party together until '72, its National Convention must then yield to the demand of the old Southern masters of the doughface Democracy, for the incorporation of downright repudiation as a plank in their platform.

MORE DEMOCRATIC HYPOCRISY.

A day or two ago we animadverted upon the duplicity resorted to by the Democrats of this Commonwealth in the Platform of Doctrines adopted by the late Harrisburg Convention, especially in reference to the universality and inalienability of political rights. It now devolves upon us to show that the deception is not confined to the three resolutions which we then reviewed, but is as freely used in the others.

The first resolution sets forth sundry stale platitudes about the limitations of federal authority; against the exercise of powers concerning the constitutionality of which there is reasonable doubt; of the dangers to the stability of the government resulting from the assumptions of undelegated control; and the like. These platitudes are all well enough; though by constant repetition, in season and out of season, they have lost all the force they originally possessed. If the Democrats had been mindful of these maxims when the management of the Government was in their hands, their present apparent solicitude for their observance would be entitled to some degree of respect. In power, when they had an end to gain, either for their party or the nation, they never accounted these maxims of the slightest validity or importance, but constantly discarded the whole of them. Whatever they saw fit to do, they did, reducing the Constitution to a most wonderful ductility. For more than a generation their control of the Government was practically supreme, and all the tendencies to centralism they now profess to deplore, and impute to the recklessness and obstinancy of their opponents, were started and stimulated into vigorous life by them. When centralism ceased, through the development among the northern masses of anti-slavery opinions, to suit their ends, and power was certainly slipping from their grasp, they rushed to the other extreme, resolving all substantive authority into the possession of the States respectively, reduced the national government to an incoherent and vigorless league, with only advisory powers, and totally destitute of the means of self-defence and perpetuation. This lasted so long as the rebellion endured, and, then, they resumed the repetition of the old saws against centralism, in order, if possible, to deliver the States that revolted from the necessity of executing proper sureties for the non-recurrence of civil strife.

So, too, the fourth resolution demands "reform in the administration of the federal and State governments." The "outs" always imagine there is special need of "reform," by which they mean they have a special desire to get "in." Did the Democrats manage affairs wisely when they were in power? The bankrupt condition of the national treasury when the Republicans took it in hand, in 1861, doos not confirm the assumption by the Democrats of superior intelligence or honesty. Nor does the forty million debt they contrived to saddle upon Pennsylyania, and which the Republicans are gradually but surely extinguishing.

Doubtless, the men who now preside over the affairs of the State and Nation are not infallible. It is not in human nature to be. But it would be an infatuation mounting almost to insanity, to suppose that they could not be better continued where they are than to have the places they occupy filled by the men who either engineered the rebellion, or sympathized with those who did.

The seventh resolution deals lovingly with the reputations of "the soldiers and sailors who carried the flag of the country to victory." Alas! we all remember when these same Democrats bitterly denounced the men they now laud as "Lincoln's hirelings." The victories won by the gallant soldiers and sailors extorted from unwilling lips this compliment. Had they failed, those very lips would have overflowed upon them with gall and wormwood.

The last resolution pronounces the "internal revenue and taxation system grossly unjust." No specifications are vouchsafed; and that is prudent. Last year the Democracy were not so discreet. They descended to particulars. They vaunted what they would do, item by item, if only a lease of authority should be given them. Art was laid under contribution to symbolize their projects so plainly that the dullest head could comprehend them and be delighted therewith. In November, after the most searching discussion, the people voted, and the Democrats and their plans were rejected. Humiliation taught them the value of caution, and they no more come down to specifications. But what do their generalities amount to? Just this: that hopelessly cast in the issue that was joined and tried last year, they wish to withdraw their specifications, and have a new trial on statements made as vague as ingenuity can invent. It will not do. Under President JOHNSON the Democrats had the revenue department precisely where they wanted it; that is, pretty much in their own hands. They managed to steal a good deal more than an hundred millions annually. At all events, President GRANT is getting that much more revenue into the Treasury, through the operation of the same laws, than they did. With the overplus he is canceling the public debt. Every man of common intelligence knows that. What better way can be contrived to make the burdens of the people less? Paying up is the genuine method of deliverance from financial trouble. The masses of the people see what is being done, and are content. It suits them better to have the debt reduced by an hundred millions a year, than to have that large sum made a spoil by treasury agents and business men, acting in combination with each other. Let us hope that the era of that scandal has gone by, never to return again.

Railway Items.

The Mason County Journal has the gratifying intelligence, from a source that it considers reliable, that the West Virginia Railway Company "has about completed arrangements for building the road from the Pennsylvania line through the heart of West Virginia to Charleston, the future Capital, thence to the Kentucky line at the mouth of Big Sandy." The Journal says:

The bonds of the company are secured by a mortgage of all the rights, franchises, &c., belonging to said road under its charter, and are to be further secured by the endorsement of the great Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company.

The Mt. Vernon (Ohio) Banner, referring to the Pittsburgh and Mt. Vernon project, says: Judge Hurd telegraphed from Philadelphia, Monday, that if our citizens would increase their subscriptions to $80,000 the railroad would be secured. The various canvassers went to work at once an in two days the requisite sum was raised. This, we presume, secures the railroad beyond all doubt.

The railroad bridge now in process of erection at Venango City, connecting the Oil Creek and Allegheny with the Valley line, will be finished towards the close of the fall months. The Keystone bridge company are the builders. The structure will have three spans of 120 feet each. The estimated cost is $100,000. The requisite legislation authorizing the extension of the road to the west branch of the Susquehanna having been obtained, steps have been taken for the early and vigorous prosecution of the work. The surveys of the route are nearly completed, and at several important points ground has been broken for the road bed. The projected line is located along the valleys of Mahoning Creek and Bennett's branch, and connects with the Philadelphia and Erie road at Emporium. The grades will be easy, not exceeding twenty feet to the mile. The material aid for the extension has been obtained upon terms highly advantageous to the State. The Commonwealth receives for $6,500,000 worth of bonds for the Philadelphia and Erie road, not payable till 1912, an equal amount of the bonds of the Allegheny Valley road guaranteed by the Pennsylvania, North Central and Philadelphia and Erie Companies, payable 1875, at the rate of $100,000 per annum.

Last April that portion of the Ashtabula & New Lisbon R. R., laying between Niles, Trumbull county, and New Lisbon, Columbia county, was sold at Master Commissioner's sale to the Erie R. R. management, who proposed to make the road a feeder for the A. & G. W. R. R. Under a former lease, by which the Erie purchasers obtained their rights, the road was to be completed by July 14, 1869. A thousand men were at once put on the work, and were pushed night and day. Eleven miles, from New Lisbon to Leetonia, were complete, and about thirty-five miles remained to be finished. As the time drew near when the road should be completed the excitement in the neighborhood became intense, crowds gathered about the workmen, and things were very lively. But the morning of the 14th of July came and found five or six miles of rails yet to be laid.

The original Ashtabula & New Lisbon R. R. Co. people who were interested in the northern end of the line, which it is supposed the Erie people did not intend to build at all, became alarmed, and on Friday held a meeting and declared the lease under which the Erie managers bought, forfeited. The matter promises a fruitful field for litigation.

DOCTOR BOEHM, a celebrated German surgeon, has just performed the operation of separating two female children, five years of age, who were joined together in the same manner as the Siamese twins. The German papers state that the operation was attended with perfect success, but one of the patients seems to have died the same day. The survivor is in good health.

Presbyterian Union.

The Moderators and Committee of Ministers and Editors of the Old and New School Presbyterian Assemblies have issued a pastoral letter on the subject of union to the Presbyteries and churches under their care. Speaking of the basis of reunion the letter says:

This basis is simply the doctrinal and ecclesiastical basis of our standard heretofore and now common to both branches—"the confession of faith and form of government of the Presbyterian Church in the United States," without note or comment, without restriction or qualification. Each body, equally with the other, recognizes and abides by this platform, as the natural and constitutional grounnd for claiming to be Presbyterians; and as the true, safe, consistent and unchangeable ground for these two bodies coming again to be one.

After referring to the unanimity of the General Assemblies on the subject, and to the fact that these bodies did not wish to deny to the Presbyteries the free expression of their opinions and suffrage, the letter continued:

Accordingly it was ordered that the plan of reunion above described should be transmitted to you for your formal and official approval. It only remains that you take prompt and harmonious action upon it, such as is indicated by the action of your delegates, and that you send up to the respective General Assemblies your Presbyterial ratification, and then the separation which has lasted nearly half a century thus far, and almost a whole generation, will be happily ended, and we shall surely gird ourselves for a new stadium of our career in the work and services of our Lord.

We beg you to notice that, inasmuch as the affirmative vote of the two-thirds of the Presbyteries connected with each Assembly is requisite, each Presbytery must act, or be counted in the negative. And action must be taken definitely, on or before the 15th day of October, and a statement of the vote of the Presbytery most be certified to the Stated Clerk of its Assembly, prior to November 1st. And besides, in order to secure transmission, the Commissioners should bring up in hand to the adjourned meeting of the Assembly in Pittsburgh on the 10th of November a duplicate certificate of the action of their respective Presbyteries.

And now, brethren, do not the times demand of us such organic consolidation, when the forces of Antichrist are everywhere organizing union against the Lord and against his anointed, and when the rallying call for an Ecumenical Council goes from Rome, that would fain muster her recruits from the Protestant ranks for the coming conflict? Our best answer to the Pope's Encyclical will be our reunion in November, in season to be communicated to the Papal conclave at the Vatican, in December. We are loudly summoned to reunite now, when such gigantic enterprises are on foot to subvert our only religion, when all forms of mischief and disbelief are banding their forces to destroy the Christian faith, to break down the Christian Sabbath, to demoralize society, and to root out our blessed Christianity from the world; when Romanism, Rationalism and Ritualism make up the triune falsehood which denies all that is vital in our doctrines and worship; and when the great Deceiver goes forth in all the earth, with sleepless energy, to instigate kings and peoples to all the horrid orgies of Atheism. At such a fearful crisis ought any evangelizing energy to be wasted or misapplied? At the moment of final conflict is it not a woeful mistake to turn our guns against battalions of our own army, who come to join our ranks, bearing aloft our banners? Our Confession dwells much upon "the communion of saints."

What will be one of the consequences of the reunion is set forth as follows:

Wealth that has long been withheld will flow forth, as we trust, in a new consecration, and our excellent Presbyterian system will be operated with new efficiency in all its departments. We fondly believe that not only our merchant princes, but the masses of our membership, touched by the spirit of revival, and hailing this new era in spite of the annals of Church, will bring forward their munificent thank-offerings to supply the treasures of our boards and committees; to endow and equip our theological seminaries; to sustain our impoverished ministry, and against all negative and false Christianity; to bear aloft the standards of the Presbyterian Church, its confessions and catechisms, with its free government and its simple, scriptural worship for the salvation of the world.

The letter concludes as follows: We have only, in conclusion, to beg your observance of the second Sabbath in September, recommended by both General Assemblies as "a day of fervent and united prayer to Almighty God, that he would grant unto us all the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord," and that he would enable us, in the new relations now contemplated, "to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Washington Items.

There is reason to state that the arrangements concerning the Yerger habeas corpus case were discussed in the Cabinet session, and that a postponement until December, and not October, as has been stated, was agreed to, in order to have the matter decided before the full bench of the Supreme Court. There was no intention to give Yerger any advantage by postponement, but it was considered desirable to avoid any decision by the Chief Justice alone as to the constitutionality of acts done under military authority in the southern States, as such a decision might have involved the constitutionality of the reconstruction acts.

By the present arrangement the case will be postponed till after Congress meets again, when, if necessary, additional legislation can be had. It was held by some of the members of the Cabinet that Chief Justice Chase had no jurisdiction in the case whatever; that it was in Justice Swayne's circuit, and the application, if made at all, should have been made before him, when the responsibility would have been imposed upon him of granting or refusing the writ. It is believed that the Chief Justice felt that he would be exercising a doubtful power to decide the case, under the circumstances, which accounts for his acquiescence in the postponement.

Gen. Ames, commanding the District of Mississippi, and a number of Republican politicians from that State, arrived here recently. Ames seems to be strongly opposed to the Dent movement in Mississippi. He says there are only two parties in that State, Republican and Democrat, the former composed of loyal men, the latter of rebels. There is not the same issue in the approaching election that there was in Virginia. Both parties are opposed to disfranchisement and the test oath, and are in favor simply of universal amnesty and universal suffrage, so that the only question with the voters is whether the offices in the gift of the State shall be filled by Republicans or men who were formerly rebels. General Ames thinks the Dent movement is dangerous to the peace and prosperity of the State. The men who propose to support him are the former rebels. They will put one of their own number on the ticket with him as Lieutenant Governor, and if they succeed they will send Dent to the United States Senate, and then secure the control of the State organization for themselves. He says further that the Republicans will hold their convention in about two months hence, and will nominate a strict Republican ticket.

The Fifteenth Amendment.

From the St Louis Republican. (Dem.)

The Radical papers publish strangely incorrect lists of the States which have ratified or assumed to ratify the Fifteenth Amendment. What object is to be gained by repeatedly asserting that Iowa, Tennessee, Minnesota, and other States which have taken no action, have fully accepted the amendment, passes conjecture. The action taken thus far is as follows:

Alabama, said to have ratified.
Arkansas, ratified March 15.
Connecticut, ratified May 13.
Delaware, rejected.
Florida, ratified in June.
Georgia, rejected.
Illinois, ratified March 5.
Indiana, assumed to ratify March 14. No quorum present.
Kansas, assumed to ratify February 27. The second section was imperfect.
Louisiana, ratified March 1.
Maine, ratified March 9.
Massachusetts, ratified March 12.
Michigan, ratified March 5.
Missouri, assumed to ratify March 1. Did not act upon the second section.
Nebraska, assumed to ratify. Certificate on file at the State Department is informal and insufficient.
Nevada, ratified March 1.
New Hampshire, ratified July 1.
New York, ratified April 14.
North Carolina, ratified March 5.
Pennsylvania, ratified March 26.
Rhode Island, the Senate ratified May 27. The amendment will probably be rejected, because the Rhode Island radicals believe that under it they can no longer disfranchise their Irish Catholic laborers.
South Carolina, ratified March 10.
West Virginia, ratified March 3.
Wisconsin, ratified March 5.

This makes only twenty-one States that can possibly be claimed for the amendment thus far; and of these, only seventeen have legally ratified it.

EIGHT members of the "United Sons of Liberty," a coal miners' organization, were convicted last week in the Clearfield County Court. The prosecution alleged that the Society was for the purpose of controlling the hours of labor, &c., to their injury. The defendants did not deny that they belonged to the society, but alleged that there was nothing illegal in it—that it was a benevolent association. The Court held however, that it came under the technical definitions of conspiracy, and the jury found them guilty.

ONE OF THE MOST ASTOUNDING CURES EVER PUBLISHED—ATTESTED BY OVER FIFTY WITNESSES.

The remarkable cure of Miss Fisher, of Beaver county, is one worthy of more than a passing notice, especially when so many persons are suffering not only with diseases of the eyes, and partial or total blindness, but likewise with other chronic ailments which Dr. Keyser has treated with such astounding success.

The lady concerned was doomed to perpetual blindness, which through Dr. Keyser's skill was completely removed, the truth of which has been vouched for by a sufficient number of witnesses to establish the fact beyond all cavil. The subjoined letter from the young lady's brother speaks for itself:

DR. KEYSER—This is the list of names that I have to the cure of my sister, Christiana Fisher. They were all willing to put their names down, and were very much astonished to see that you brought her sight so soon. My mother sends her thanks to you; she says "you are one of the greatest men in the world." She says if we had not come across you she believes her child would not be living at this time. We all join in sending our love and respects to you.

S. P. FISHER,
North Sewickley.

We, the undersigned, know of the cure of Miss Fisher, and bear willing testimony to the fact above stated.

SUMMER PERILS—HOW TO ESCAPE.

It will not do to trifle with the health in hot weather. Vigor oozes through the skin at every pore, and it is by physical vigor only that unhealthy influences can be baffled and repelled. The vital elements are evaporated in perspiration. Intense heat converts a man into a self-acting pump, and the moisture that is pumped out of him is derived from the well-springs of life within him. There is great need therefore, that these sources of physical strength should be in a condition to bear, without danger or inconvenience, the extraordinary drain. If they are not in such a condition, the individual becomes languid and low-spirited.

The main thing is to keep the digestive apparatus in good working trim; for if the stomach, the purveyor of the system, does its duty thoroughly, the liver, the bowels, the brain, and the nervous system, being duly matured, will be likely to do theirs. In view of these facts, it is manifest that a powerful and wholesome vegetable tonic like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is especially required at this enfeebling season. It is the most admirable of all correctives and invigorants, and for this reason: it does not over-stimulate the system. The proportions of appetient, tonic and stimulating components are so judiciously graduated, that the process of invigoration and purification go on simultaneously, and no undue excitement is created in the circulation or the brain. All unmedicated stimulants, however pure, excite the pulse and the nervous system. Their exhilarating effect is temporary, and when it passes off the physical and mental depression they were employed to remove returns in an aggravated form. But this is not the case when HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are taken as a stomachic and nervine. The medical herbs, roots and gums with which they are impregnated, neutralize the exciting principle of the rye spirit which forms their basis, and which is in itself the most wholesome of all the varieties of alcohol.

SECURITY AND COMFORT

J. B. HARRIS
Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, July 20, 1869.

Gold fluctuated to-day between 135⅛ and 135⅛, with a firmer feeling at the close. Market for the present seems to depend more on the quotations for bonds in London than anything else. The present demand is rather light from importers, most of whom are still awaiting larger shipments of grain to cause generally lower rates of exchange. The speculative interest is also light. Operators are taking in small margins and not likely to buy, hoping to see the market touch 133 to 134. The present condition of the market is precisely, or very nearly so, as last summer. The market was then quoted weak and dull during the fore part of July, everybody holding back to get cheaper gold, when suddenly the upward movement set in from 134 with almost no reaction until 150 had been reached, and even then it was unprofitable to sell. The European situation, of the western states, in regard to occasions for war rumors, is favorable to raise excitement—whether based on facts or rumors is unimportant, so the reports are plausible.

Government bonds are rather weak, previous to a large government purchase of three millions, and shows that doubts are entertained whether present quotations can be sustained or not. A reaction to any point nearer 119 for new bonds would no doubt bring out more sellers and stock the market.

Stocks were very dull, but have recovered slightly from the extreme depression. The larger operators are nearly all out of town and the market is manipulated by small odealers.

Money easy.

There was a marked change in the temper of speculation on the stock exchange late in the day, and the position which the market has assumed for some days past was entirely reversed. Vanderbilt stocks, New York Central and Hudson River became suddenly weak and fell 2@2¼ per cent., while the balance of the railways almost as suddenly became strong and advanced 1@3 per cent. The new position of the market attracted much attention, but no tangible reason could be given for it. Among miscellaneous shares, Pacific Mail was the feature, and rose from 81¼ to 85¼. The market closed dull and irregular.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, July 20, 1869.

There is no improvement to note in the general markets, nor is it expected that there will be until the latter part of next month. The demand for almost everything is very light, being restricted entirely to supplying immediate wants while in values there are no important changes.

The weather, we regret to say, continues wet and unfavorable for harvesting, and considerable apprehension is manifested as to the result. As we have repeatedly stated, there is not much doubt but what there will be an average crop, but had it not have been for the long continued rains, the yield, doubtless, would have been unprecedented in the history of this country.

The receipts of wheat at Chicago last week were 534,412 bushels, against a little over 300,000 the week preceding. These liberal arrivals, in view of the fact that country people generally are busily engaged in harvesting, would indicate that there must still be a good deal of last years crop in the west. Another noticeable feature is the fact that there is no margin between Chicago and the sea-board, or any other place, and most of the stock there is in the hands of the "bull-ring," who are doing everything in their power to "bull" the market and keep it up until they get out. The same was done last year, and there is every indication that an attempt is now being made to repeat it. Once these "bulls" get unloaded, they will turn "bear," and will resort to all kinds of strategy to break the market down and keep it down until they have again loaded up.

The Bureau of Agriculture estimates that there are more than a million acres of wheat this year above the average of 1868, which was over 10,000,000 acres, and it states that returns warrant the belief that Iowa has 2,000,000 more than in 1868; Ohio, 1,000,000; Indiana, 130,000; Tennessee, 130,000 and Missouri, 96,000. If this estimate is correct—and the Bureau of Agriculture is pretty good authority—it is probable that this increased acreage will make up for any deficiency caused by the excessive rains, and that the yield will certainly be an average, and probably considerably more than an average.

APPLES—Are arriving freely, with a good demand, the market is firm and prices are fully sustained, ranging from $3@4 per bbl.

BUTTER—Is in rather better supply, but with a fair demand, prices, as yet, are sustained, ranging from 20@25, as to quality.

BEANS—Dull at $1,75@2.

BROOMS—Quoted as follows: No. 5, $6,50; No. 4 $6; No. 3 $5, No. 2, $4,50, and market firm.

CHEESE—Sales Western Reserve, 15; Hamburg, at 16; Factory, at 17; Goshen, at 18.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet, and unchanged—28@30 in a jobbing way, standard brands.

DRIED FRUIT—Dull. Peaches nominal at 9@10 for quarters; 12@14 mixed, and 16 for prime halves. Apples 10@13 cts.

EGGS—Quiet at 20@21, most of sales at the inside quotation.

FEATHERS — Supply in hands of commission men almost exhausted. Prime geese may be quoted at 85@90, to the trade, and $1 in a retail way.

FLOUR—The flour market is firm; stocks are pretty well reduced, and scarcely be replaced at present prices; there is no excitement, however, and no increased demand, and neither dealers nor consumers appear to apprehend any further advance—one party, we understand, has some two or three thousand barrels, bought some time ago, and is probable, if he does not hold too long that he will realize a very handsome margin. We continue to quote Spring Wheat brands at $6,75@7,00, and White Wheat at $7,00@7,25. Rye Flour $6,50@$6,50.

GRAIN—There is a continued good milling demand for Wheat, and there is little or none offering; $1,40 is readily paid for prime Red, and $1,35 for good. Corn is very scarce here, and with a good demand, and little or none offering, prices continue to tend upward. May is quoted at 85@90 for mixed and 93@95 for prime Yellow. Rye is in demand with sales at $1,25, and a round lot might bring $1,30. Oats firm but irregular, dealers generally are endervoring to establish an advance, but thus far the attempt has been a partial failure. The movement in Barley, nor is it likely to be, there will be until the new crop is ready for market.

HAY—Baled is scarce and firm, and we now quote at $25@28, as to quality. Sales at Allegheny Diamond market, 22 loads new crop at $18@25.

HEMP—Last sales at $205.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LIME—Cleveland Lime is quoted at $2,50, per bbl, and Common White $1,75.

LARD OIL—Sales of No. 2 at $1,18 and No. 1 at 1,45@$1,48

POULTRY—Sales of spring chickens, by the coop, at 60@65c per pair.

POTATOES—The market is completely glutted, and prices continue to decline, ranging from $1,50@2,00 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Market firmer. Sugar Cured Hams continue to tend upward, some houses, asking 23. Shoulders continue to quote as follows: Shoulders, 14¾@15 for Plain, and 17 Sugar Cured; Ribbed Sides, 17¾; Clear do, 18¾; Plain Hams, 18½; Sugar Cured do, 22@22½. Lard in tierces, 20½@20¾ in half bbls and 21@ in kegs. Dried Beef, 22. Mess Pork $33,50.

PEANUTS—Small sales at 12.

SALT—Allegheny River brands quoted, by the car load, at $1,75@1,80

The Pittsburgh Gazette

BRUNSWICK, ME.

The Commencement Exercises at Bowdoin College—Maine Historical Society—Lecture by Senator Patterson.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BRUNSWICK, ME., July 15, 1869.

Our last note was scribbled from this beautiful village, known as the seat of an old and honored institution of learning, as the procession had formed to march to the church. Among the distinguished men on the platform were Gov. Chamberlain, Gen. O. O. Howard, Senator Fessenden, Dr. R. Anderson, for a long life time Secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, all Aulumni of the College, and Senator Patterson, of N. Y. From all parts of the State and many other States, men from the different professions and welks of life had come up to pay their annual visit to their mother to testify their love for her. Here they linger for days reviewing the past and strengthening themselves for the future. From 11 to 3½ a crowded church listened to the twenty-six orations of the graduating class. These were forcible in style and were delivered in a calm and graceful manner. The honorary degrees conferred were DD., on Rev. George W. Field, Rev. Stephen Allen, and Rev. H. Stebbens, of San Francisco. LL. D. on Gov. Chamberlain, Nehemiah Cleveland, and J. G. Kohl, of Bremen.

At the close of the commencement dinner, which immediately followed the performances of the graduating class, Dr. Anderson, in fitting words, spoke of one of the Faculty who was acquainted with every living graduate—one who this day completed his fiftieth year as an instructor in the College, and who had the love and respect of all; and said that a few of the alumni remembering this fact had prepared a testimonial of their regard. Only a few had been made acquainted with the plan, and yet eleven hundred and fifty dollars were presented to him.

The Reverend Professor, deeply affected, thanked those who had thus kindly remembered him, in behalf of himself and the whole fraternity of teachers, and then gave an account of the condition of the College when he assumed his duties and the change he had lived to witness.

Then followed speeches from different individuals, testifying to their interest in, and love for, their Alma Mater, and pledging their names for $5,000 towards the large and substantial memorial hall now in process of erection.

The Alumni, on the preceding day, had agreed to raise $100,000 for the general purposes of the institution.

On Thursday the meeting of the Maine Historical Society was held; also the anniversary of the Phi-Beta-Kappa Society was observed. Senator Patterson, of New Hampshire, delivered the oration before the latter society. His subject was: "Education and its relations to Government." The subject was treated in an exceedingly able manner, and delivered in an eloquent and most impressive manner. His style is finished and his thoughts clear and vigorous. Our Mercantile Library Association could not do a better service to our community than, if it can be done, by securing him as one of the lecturers of their course. We have never heard before that association a more scholarly, eloquent or useful lecture.

In the afternoon, "Class Day" exercises, consisting of an oration, poem, chronicles, prophecy, address, singing of an ode, smoking of the pipe of peace, and a farewell, closed the performances. The poem was one of unusual beauty and excellence for such an occasion. The many admirable hits at the follies of the age were well received. Woman's deman's, resting satisfied with nothing short of taking the man out of the moon and putting a woman in, were put in a happy manner.

Thus was closed one of those festivals which form the great event of the year to the institution and the place and the State. These higher institutions elevate the lower. The college preceded the common school. They furnish the best and most able advocates of learning, and the graduates furnish the most competent and earnest instructors. New England knows this, and she amply endows and carefully nurses her colleges, not because she is indifferent to the common school, but because she loves it. No one loves it better and nowhere does it prosper better.

Traveling Dresses and Summer Toilets.

[From Harper's Bazar, 17th.]

The best materials for traveling dresses are those impermeable stuffs that may be exposed to all sorts of weather. Substantial pongees and wash poplins of a pretty color, and stylishly made, meet all the requisites of a traveling costume. Gray and Havana brown do not show soil easily, and are favorite colors at present. They are selected in leon, pongee, mohair and summer poplins, and made up in a variety of ways, of which those with the simplest trimmings are preferable. It is a bad plan to put ruches or flounces on the upper skirts of traveling dresses, as they are soon crushed out of shape by being sat upon. Cross cut bands, scollops, braid and fringed are the best trimmings for basques and upper skirts, reserving the flounces to aid a finish below. A stylish yet simple suit of gray pongee has an eight-inch flounce bound with black on the lower skirt. The upper skirt, formed of two deep puffs behind, and the short sailor jacket, are merely scalloped in shallow curves and bound by a black ribbon sash. This was intended for traveling; but many such suits are seen daily on the avenue, looking as neat and fresh as when made early in the season. A traveling suit just completed for a trip to San Francisco over the Pacific Railroad, is of grey wash poplin, of thick quality, sold at sixty-five cents a yard. The round skirt has two pleated flounces, an overskirt and short belted basque, trimmed with a narrower flounce. The bias flounces have the edges turned under and faced with fine black alpaca braid stitched on to show like a cord below. There is no sash to this suit; but the belt worn with it is a novelty, or rather a revival of an old fashion. It is black morocco very highly glazed and stamped in a pattern with white. A large buckle holds it securely, and the whole has a substantial look about it. The belts are sold in the shops for $1 50.

For short trips when thinner goods will answer, the Scotch ginghams, in black and white stripes, begin to rival the unbleached linens. They wash admirably, and do not rumple or show soil as the light colored linens are apt to do. They are made in the simple style described above. Models for elaborate suits for pungee and silk are given elsewhere in the illustrations.

An excellent "duster" for preserving handsome silk traveling dresses is made with merely a skirt and a graceful but peculiar mantle, cut like a short sacque behind, with long, pointed ends over the arms protecting the front of the corsage. The two pieces, skirt and wrap, are joined together, forming but one garment. It is of Spanish linen trimmed with brown braid. Another duster is a belted polonnaise with a capeline or hood, with long ends that are thrown over the shoulder and hang down behind. Three white tassels adorn the hood.

Foulards and summer silk dresses worn in the afternoon are made more dressy by the addition of a jabot of lace, consisting of a band of Swiss insertion with a row of Valenciennes lace on each side. It surrounds the neck, and extends down the front of the corsage to the belt. Other dresses have the neck cut low in front in the shade of the letter V, and completed by a collarette formed of a narrow puff of muslin, with a wide ruffle of Valenciennes below it. Pretty fichus of tucked and dotted muslin are shaped like spencer caps, broad on the shoulders and pointed at the belt, with a short basque added. A wide collar is turned over the throat. The whole garment is edged with Valenciennes, headed by colored ribbon. A belt with buckle or sash, and a cravat bow, are of wider ribbon of the same shade. These fichus give an air of style to the simplest muslin dresses.

The sabot sleeve is greatly in vogue for high-necked dresses of foulard, grenadine and silk. At the top it is like an easy fitting coat sleeve, but gradually widens below, and is gathered into a ruffle, or sometimes two, falling downward on the wrist. The opening is just large enough to slip the arm through.

Dresses of all materials, from muslin to silk, are being made with short skirts and separate trains, or else with the train attached to the three back widths to be looped in the street, and allowed to flow in the house. This adds an extra toilet to the wardrobe at small expense, as one waist and sleeves will serve with both skirts.

The fancy for checked goods has revived the old-fashioned cross-barred muslin for breakfast dresses and children's use. It is very serviceable, is strong as pique, and much cooler, and washes clear and white while there is a thread of it left. It is trimmed with bias bands of the same, stitched on wider bands of solid colored percale, that show like a piping above and below the white bands. Bright green and mauve percale are most used. Nansook, with a thick twilled stripe, is also worn; but it is not so durable as the barred goods, as the thin stripe is apt to split.

Fine French muslins, rose color, china blue, and apple green are worn beneath transparent muslins. Grenadine requires silk linings. Some Chambery gauzes are thick and glossy enough to be worn over white muslins.

Lace points are bunced upon the shoulders in every conceivable way. This fashion is ruinous to fine lace, but is persisted in until straight hanging laces are the exception, and begin to look stiff and ungraceful. Old mantles that have been laid aside for years, because too small for use, are now brought to light, and their shape and size concealed by this new mode of draping. The entire depth at the side is fastened high on the shoulders in a single bunch of folds, held by a gold clasp or a ribbon bow. The whole of the dress sleeve is disclosed. The back of the mantle is allowed to droop nearly to the sash, and the fronts are lapped beneath the belt. Square shawls of white or black grenadine, with plain hems or with fringe, are arranged in the same way and look very stylish. Short sacques of white llama lacs, lined with colored silk, are worn at the watering places. Embroidered Swiss muslin shawls, mantles and baschliks are greatly in favor abroad.

Large meshed nets of coarse saddlers' silk or fine soutsche are worn by way of change from the invisible nets so long used over the chignon. They are very durable, and are shown in black and every shade of brown to match the hair. They are especially pretty with light hair. Pink and blue nets are shown, but are not admired. Price 50 cents.

The California Flying-Machine.

The "Avitor," as it is called, or aerial carriage, is a balloon, shaped like a cigar, both ends coming to a point. It is thirty-seven feet long, eleven feet from top to bottom, and eight feet in width. Around the balloon is a light framework of wood and cane, strongly wired together and braced. Attached to this frame, and standing up as they approach the front of the carriage, are two wings, one on either side. They are each five feet wide at a little back of the centre of the carriage, and do not commence to narrow down until they approach the front, where they come to a point. These wings are made of white cloth fastened to a light framework, which is braced securely by wires. To the frame at the hind part of the carriage is attached a rudder or steering gear, which is exactly the shape of the paper used in pin darts, four vanes at right angles. This, when raised or lowered, elevates or depresses the head of the carriage when in motion, and when turned from side to side, guides the carriage as a rudder does a boat. At the centre and bottom of the balloon is an indentation or space left in the material of which it is built, in which the engine and machinery are placed on framework. The boiler and furnace are together only a little over a foot long, four inches wide and five or six inches in height. Steam is generated by spirit lamps. The cylinder is two inches in diameter and has a three-inch stroke. The crank connects by means of cog-wheels, with tumbling rods which lead out to the propellers, on either side of the carriage. The propellers are each two-bladed, four feet in diameter, and are placed in the framework of the wings. The boiler is made to carry eight pounds of steam. When not inflated, the carriage weighs eighty-four pounds. The balloon has a capacity for 1,360 feet of gas. When inflated and ready for a flight, it is calculated to have the carriage weigh from four to ten pounds. Its first public trial at San Francisco, on the 4th inst., resulted in complete success.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer, the leading Democratic paper in Ohio, says: "Repudiation is getting to be a very respectable sort of word, and every day makes it more and more a synonym for relief."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscess, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE GAZETTE is furnished to the city six days of the week for 15 cents per week; by mail, $8 per annum: 3 mos., $2.

John Law was taken over to the Western Penitentiary yesterday by Sheriff Cluley.

The Grass in the Allegheny Park was mowed yesterday. It yielded quite a heavy crop.

Dull.—Business at the offices of police magistrates has been extremely dull for several days past.

Pleasant.—The weather has been exceedingly pleasant since the heavy rains of Saturday and Sunday.

At Work.—The Street Commissioner of South Pittsburgh is having the streets of that borough thoroughly cleaned.

Clean.—The streets and alleys of the city are clean and more free from filth and garbage than they have been for years.

The Allegheny Wharf.—The occupancy of the Allegheny wharf, as a lumber yard, metal yards &c., is a subject of controversy between the wharf master and other parties.

The Mutual Protectionists have been operating in Allegheny. Informations were made yesterday before several of the Aldermen, but we could not get the names of the victims.

Committed for Trial.—Andrew Montague, a notice of whose arrest we published yesterday morning, was, after a hearing, committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at court.

The Enformers at Work.—We learn that informations against three of the employes on the Birmingham Passenger Railway for working on Sunday were made at Alderman Neeper's office yesterday.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Rob't Jones, book-keeper for Messrs. Carroll & Snyder, boiler manufacturers, who has been seriously ill for some days past, has so far recovered as to be again convalescent.

Received.—The following donations for the Hardscrabble sufferers were made yesterday, and are hereby acknowledged by the persons receiving them: From Mr. Joseph Keating, a quantity of clothing; Mr. Wilson, $5, in cash.

Committed.—Clarence Bell, charged on oath of Clara Dennis, with the larceny of a coat and pocketbook, an account of which we previously published, was arrested yesterday and after a hearing was committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at court.

Stock Sale.—The following stocks were sold last evening on second floor of Commercial Sales Rooms, 106 Smithfield street, by A. McIlwaine, Auctioneer:

Exchange National Bank	$ 70.00
Third " "	130.25
Little Saw Mill Run R. R	36.00

Sent to the House of Refuge.—Joseph Lewis and Joseph Cochran, boys aged respectively twelve and fourteen years, were arrested yesterday morning, charged with the larceny of a lot of glassware, from Best's glass house, and after a hearing were sent to the House of Refuge.

Search Warrant Issued.—Julia How, a resident on Wylie street, a few days ago lost a black mourning shawl, valued at twenty dollars, which she accused a neighbor of taking. At her request Alderman McMasters issued a warrant for the searching of the house of the suspected party.

Wanted.—Donations of money, clothing, bread, meat, &c., are solicited for the benefit of the Hardscrabble sufferers. Some of our citizens have responded liberally to the request and it is hoped that others will follow their good example. Donations should be left at the Mayor's office.

Severely Injured.—Monday evening, a man, name unknown, while walking along the track of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Brinton's Station, was struck by the eastward bound train and very severely injured. Dr. Hamilton attended to his injuries which, though severe, are not considered fatal.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Lippincott & Company, Philadelphia, giving the contents of Lippincott's Magazine for August. It is unnecessary for us to say anything in behalf of the work, as all literature readers are aware this magazine is one of the very best monthlies published.

The Lady's Book.—We have received from Mr. W. A. Gildenfenny, 45 Fifth avenue, "Godey's Lady's Book for August," a capital number, filled with an unusually choice selection of interesting reading matter, both prose and poetry, together with full details of the latest fashions. Our lady readers should supply themselves with this number.

Reckless Driving.—James Young, a livery stable keeper in the Ninth ward, appeared before Alderman McMasters, yesterday and made information against Patrick Kronen, for misdemanor, under the livery stable act. Young alleges Kronen hired a horse and buggy of him, and that by reckless driving the horse was almost ruined, and the buggy damaged to the amount of $100. Warrant issued.

Hair Pulling.—The Tyler and Smith families, of the Ninth Ward, had a little unpleasantness yesterday morning. Harriet and Abraham, of the Smith tribe, had the best of it, by pulling Mary Tyler's hair, and divesting her of a considerable portion of clothing. Mary succumbed, but turned up in a short time at Alderman McMaster's office where she lodged information against her assailants for assault and battery. They were arrested and held for a hearing.

Disorderly.—John Ryland was yesterday arrested and taken to the Mayor's office on a charge of disorderly conduct. It appears that John had been indulging in too much "benzine," and for the purpose of amusing himself induced his boys to attack the children of a lady, who resides in the same locality he does. The lady seeing one of her children abused interfered, whereupon Ryland caught her by the throat and choked her. The Mayor imposed a fine of $10 and costs upon him, and in default committed him for twenty days.

A Lost Ring.—Lizzie Brner was the possesser of a gold finger ring, valued at ten dollars, but in an unfortunate moment she gave it over to the care of Charles Kremer, with instruction to him to keep it until called for. She has, she states called for it several times since then, but never could succeed in obtaining possession of it again. Her patience became exhausted yesterday, and she preferred an information against Charles before Alderman Strain, for larceny as bailee. An officer was instructed to notify Charles of the fact.

In Good Order.—The Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph of this city is in good order, and has never worked better since it was was constructed than it does at present. Mr. Paisley, the Superintendent, is an efficient officer and attentive to his business, and his assistants are equally attentive and reliable.

Assault and Battery.—George Hartman made information, before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, yesterday, charging James Rath with assault and battery, alleging that the accused had beaten and abused him. Rath was arrested, and after a hearing, was held to bail for his appearance at Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

Odd Fellows' Pic-Nic.—To-day Allegheny Lodge No. 29, I. O. of O. F., will hold its first annual pic-nic at Faulk's Grove. Trains leave the Allegheny Station at 8:57, 10:15 A. M., and 1:26, 3:57, and 5:12 P. M. The affair is in competent hand and promises to be one of the most delightful pic-nics of the season. All who desire to throw off care and spend a day pleasantly in the woods should be in attendance.

The Mayor's Office.—The Finance Committee, in making the appropriation bill, estimated the revenue to be received from the Mayor's office at ten thousand dollars, which estimate will be nearly if not quite doubled, as the returns for the first six months will approximate eleven thousand dollars, in addition to which over one thousand dollars have been paid to the Directors of the Poor, which was realized from violators of the Sunday liquor law.

Obstructing the Crossings.—A conductor on the Citizens Passengers Railway was arrested and taken to the Mayor's office yesterday, on a charge of obstructing the crossing at Penn and Sixth street by stopping his car on the same. The conductor stated that there was a new driver on his car, who, not being accustomed to the business had stopped the car too soon, and that he would be more careful in the future, whereupon the case was dismissed. The next man arrested for that offense may expect to pay a fine.

Matrimonial.

J. W. McWilliams, Esq., late editor of the Washington Reporter, yesterday led to the hymenial altar Miss Emma Clark, a most estimable and accomplished young lady, of Allegheny City. The happy couple started on an extended western tour last evening, and take with them our best wishes. Mr. McWilliams is a gentleman in every sense of the word, and no one is more deserving than he of the person of such a partner to assist him through the cares and troubles incident to this life, and enjoy with him its many pleasures.

A Nuisance.

One of the most offensive and inexcusable nuisances is that of "night soilers" commencing their operations in many portions of the city before persons have retired. Last night we observed no less than five carts within a square of the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street between 10 and 11 o'clock. The law regulating their operations authorizes the Board of Health to designate at what hours the work shall be performed when granting them permits, and we hope that respectable body will hereafter have more respect for the comfort of our citizens than to allow the work to be done at so early an hour, in that locality at least.

Revenue Seizure.

The cigar shop of J. Cohen, on Wylie street, was seized yesterday morning, by the Government authorities, and the stock removed to the Government warehouse, on First avenue. It appears that Roger O'Mare, one of the Mayor's police, met a peddler on Saturday last, near the Union Depot, who had in his possession a quantity of cigars, which had not the required revenue stamps upon them. On inquiring, it was accertained that the cigars were purchased at Cohen's establishment. The peddler was conducted to the revenue office, where he made affidavit to having purchased the segars from Cohen, and the order was issued for the seizure.

The Crescent Circus.

Mr. Charles W. Noyes, the veteran circus manager, has gathered around him one of the strongest combinations of talent in this line to be found in the country. The organization is known as the Crescent City Circus, and opened a brief engagement last evening on the lot at the rear of the Red Lion Hotel. A dense crowd assembled beneath the canvas to witness the initial performance, which was received with every manifestation of delight and stamped the high character of the entertainment. Another exhibition will be given at the same place this evening, and lovers of this sport should not fail to be in attendance. The exhibition commences at eight o'clock, and it would be wise in those wishing to secure good seats to be on hand early.

A Poisoned Bride.

The following is from the Zanesville Courier: On Wednesday evening last, a young married couple arrived in this city from Pittsburgh, on their wedding tour, intending to remain here some days. During the evening and the night the lady suffered quite severely with the toothache, and yesterday morning, in order to relieve herself of the distressing pain, took some laudanum, taking, however, entirely too much—nearly half an ounce—a quantity sufficient to develop its poisonous effects. After taking the laudanum she laid down to rest, and soon her breathing alarmed her friends, when efforts were made to arouse her, but without avail. Dr. Garwood was called in, and after working with her for some three hours, succeeded in restoring consciousness, and she has now entirely recovered from the effects of the drug.

A Heavy Larceny.

Mr. John A. Warden, of the firm of Warden, Frew & Co., oil refiners, who have a refinery in Temperanceville, yesterday appeared before the Mayor and made information, charging Henry House with larceny. The refinery has not been in operation for a few days, during which time, it appears, some parties have been operating upon the agitator, or rather in it, as the lead with which it was lined had all been removed and carried away. There were some grounds for suspicion against House, and a search warrant was issued. The officers, after arresting House, made an examination of his premises which lead to the discovery of fifty-eight pounds of the lead, and a number of tools which it is supposed were used in cutting it from the agitator. After a hearing House was held to bail for his appearance at court, and in default was committed to jail.

Shocking Suicide—Coroner's Inquest.

Christian Muhlbronner, a German, residing in the Twenty-third ward, near Hazelwood Station, on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville railroad, terminated his earthly existence Monday evening by shooting himself. The unfortunate man, it appears, was in the habit of indulging in an inordinate use of liquor, and when intoxicated was said to be extremely excitable and of an irritable temper, but when sober was quiet and peaceable. He had been drinking to excess on Monday, and in the evening had a quarrel with his wife, when he threatened to shoot himself and took down the gun for that purpose, but was prevented from committing the deed at that time by his wife, who succeeded in taking the gun from him and, as she supposed, in pacifying him, as he quietly gave up the gun, which was restored to its place, and he agreed to lay down and take a sleep, pulling off his boots as he started for that purpose. Mrs. B. was shortly afterward called out of the house by the gardener, where she had been but a few moments when she heard her husband calling her. On looking up she saw him standing on the porch with the gun in his hands, his chin resting on the muzzle. After gaining her attention he said "Good bye now," and placing his mouth over the muzzle of the gun pulled the trigger with his toe, discharging the contents of the weapon in his mouth and fell to the floor. His wife, on hearing the report, ran to him as quickly as possible, but life was extinct when she reached him. The gun was charged with shot and slugs, and the entire charge entering the mouth passed through the head, shattering it almost to atoms and carrying away a large portion of the skull from the back part of the head.

Coroner Clawson was notified of the affair yesterday morning and held an inquest on the body, the jury returning a verdict of death by suicide.

The deceased, it appears from the evidence adduced, was subject to spells of temporary insanity, and a few weeks since while thus afflicted gathered together all his valuable papers, such as deeds, notes, mortgages and a life insurance policy and burned them to prevent his wife, as he stated, for having the benefit of his property when he died. He was extensively engaged in the cultivation of grapes, and is said to have been a hard-working, industrious man, and had accumulated considerable property. He leaves a widow and three children.

The Scarlet Fever.

The scarlet fever is prevailing to an alarming extent in some portions of Allegheny city, and we believe there are many cases on this side of the river. In the London Lancet, a journal of high authority in such matters, we find the following treatment of the terrible disease reported by Dr. Chas. F. Thompson and endorsed:

The patient is immersed in a warm bath in the early stage of the disease, and this is repeated frequently, or as often as the strength of the patient will allow. The first effect is to produce a soothing and refreshing feeling in the patient, to be followed soon by such an eruption on the surface, of so vivid a color, and in such amount as would astonish those who have never witnessed it. Thus one of the greatest dangers of this fearful disease—the suppression of the eruption—is escaped. The appetite generally returns after the first or second bath, and the strength of the patient is kept up by nutritious food. The bath prevents the dissemination of the disease, by removing the excreta from the skin as soon as it is deposited. This treatment promotes circular desquamation. The body should be gently dried by soft linen cloths after the bath. By this procedure the various secretions are deprived of their noxious properties, and the irritation of internal organs is quickly relieved, thus dissipating infection. Another benefit is that a very serious case is soon reduced to a mild one, and the patient recovers in less than half the usual time. Since Dr. Thompson has pursued this practice—during the last fifteen years—he has never lost a patient from scarlet fever.

Teachers Elected.

At a meeting of the Birmingham School Board, the following teachers were elected for the ensuing year: Principal, Mr. B. Jones; Assistants, Misses Kate Knowles, Mary Beck, Jennie Adams, Lottie Hammett, Mattie Torrence, Maggie Hare, Louisa Sellers, Lizzie Barr, Lizzie Fowler, Sadie McGonigle, Ella C'Donnell, Mary Stange, Annie Herriott, Jennie McCutcheon, Jennie Sterling, Ella Simpson, Maggie Maguire; Teacher of German, Mr. G. A. Nuiffer; Teacher of Music, Mr. G. W. Huey. The schools will re-open the last Monday in August.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the South Pittsburgh public schools, the following teachers were elected to serve the ensuing year: Principal, Wm. P. Montgomery; Grammar, Miss Annie E. Wilcox; Intermediate, Miss Ella McCutcheon and Miss Henrietta Salisbury; Primary, Misses Sarah C. Nelson and Mary K. Poland. Teacher of Vocal Music, Mr. John Abel Jones.

Improved Street Cars.

In two respects the St Louis cars are in advance of Fittsburgh. The platform has movable side gates. These are closed on the front end and left open in the rear. This prevents all jumping on or off of the front part of the car. The other is in the universal use of tickets. Each conductor sells tickets in a strip, for twenty-five cents. These tickets pass on all routes. The conductor pierces each ticket openly as he receives it. They are issued from a central office in any amount required, and are in common use. The fare without tickets is seven cents. It is a very sure guard on conductors, as he has to handle but very little money except for tickets. He loses but little time in making change.

Attempted Larceny.

John Rath made information charging George Hartman with larceny. It appears that the prosecutor is a farmer, residing in Lower St. Clair township, and on his premises there is a house, unoccupied except as a receptacle for farming impliments, tools, etc. Among other articles in the house was a work bench, and on Saturday, he alleges, the accused went to the aforesaid premises and was in the act of removing the work bench, when the prosecutor interfered and a scuffle ensued. Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, before whom the information was made, issued a warrant for the arrest of Hartman.

Holtzheimer's.—At the Continental Dining Rooms, on Fifth avenue, one door west of the Postoffice, those who desire to dine in the city can be accommodated in a highly satisfactory manner, either as to quality, quantity, variety or price. Everything in reason that the market affords, will be served to meet the tastes of the greatest epicures.

Petty Litigation.

The office of an up-town Alderman, who does a flourishing business, is adorned with a large engraving, representing two mastiffs with eyes flashing, nostrils distended, and forms straightened, snarling for a fight, while at the rear, a third animal is silently engaged in rapidly devouring a plate of soup and other edibles, which seems to have been the cause of the quarrel. The picture hangs in full view of every visitor, and yet of the numbers who enter the office but few seem to have any idea of its silent lesson, or care to profit by it. Day after day men and women appear before the official, and recklessly indifferent to everything but revenge for some fancied wrong or petty affront, rush into expensive litigation, which only results in depriving them of their means and increasing the bitter feeling which instigated their rash action. How innumerable and trivial are the causes which lead to this. Half an hour, spent in examining the magistrate's docket, or listening to the complaints which are poured into his official ear, would sufficiently attest. Sometimes it is a difficulty between neighbors. In an unguarded moment one has made use of language which none but the aggrieved could construe into a threat, and yet it is so treated and calls for the protection of the law. The magistrate is compelled to hear the story, litigation commences, and ends generally when the pockets of the parties are too depleted to continue farther—neither the better for it. Again, two get into a quarrel; blows, perhaps, are exchanged; the defeated party asks redress of the law, and gets it in an empty purse. Others wrangle over an account; the difference may be but a few cents, but each feels his honor at stake, the law is invoked, and after spending, in many cases, double or treble the amount of the whole bill, a compromise is effected which might have been accomplished at first by a moment's cool reflection.

These are but illustrations of the cases which compose the greater portion, three-fourths at least, of the business transacted, upon which lawyers and magistrates thrive and constables flourish. The fault, however, cannot be charged to these, for in most instances their kindly interposition is rudely unheeded, and renders the would be litigant only the more stubborn and determined in his course.

Another curious feature in this matter, is the fact that the persons who engage in this petty litigation are, for the most part, the very persons who are the least able to bear the expense. It is not the rich, but the poorer classes whose names are to be found scattered over the pages of the Alderman's docket.

Whether the poor as a class are more sensitive of their rights, real or fancied, or whether they have a natural inclination for the law and quarrels, or whether this is the result of their prejudices, cannot be determined, but the fact remains, and is worthy of consideration. Out of the poor man's pocket comes the money which supports and encourages this evil—for evil it certainly is. It is one, however, for which there seems to be no remedy, and one which will continue to flourish so long as passion is allowed to take the place of reason and prejudice override discretion.

A Worthy Enterprise.

The eighth annual festival of St. Peters Conference, Society of St. Vincent de Paul, Allegheny City, will be given Thursday next, 22d instant, in Pleasant Valley Grove, at the terminus of the Pleasant Valley Railway, Second ward, Allegheny. These festivals are given for the benefit of the poor under the care of the Society, and thus appeal to the benevolent for aid and support. Heretofore they have been largely attended and of the most enjoyable character, and the indications are that the eighth will not in any degree fall short of its predecessors. Every arrangement for the convenience and accommodation of the visitors is being made, and we can assure all who attend a day of pleasure and hearty enjoyment, besides the satisfaction of encouraging a noble and philanthropic enterprise. We hope the hearts of the managers will be gladdened by a large turnout on the occasion.

Woodville Hotel.

We can imagine nothing more pleasant and enjoyable to residents of the city at this season of the year than a drive to the country, or a few days of recreation at some point convenient to the city, and know of no place more pleasant than the Woodville Hotel, on the Washington pike, kept by Mr. Joseph Wright, formerly one of the proprietors of the Mansion House, Washington, Pa. Mr. Wright is a courteous and agreeable gentleman, and "knows how to keep a Hotel." His table is supplied with all the delicacies of the season, the house is elegantly furnished and in fact every thing is arranged and conducted with a view to securing the comfort and convenience of guests. There are quite a number of citizens spending the "heated term" at Woodville, and there is room for a few more.

PETROLEUM AFFAIRS.

From the Titusville Herald we learn that on the Rynd farm two new wells have been struck within the last week. One of these, on Lease No. 69, is yielding about 30 barrels a day, and is owned by Messrs. Black & Co., and the other on the flats, near the creek, is pumping about twenty barrels from the second sand rock. The latter well is owned by Blakeslee & Co. The Walmer well, also struck lately, is yielding thirty barrels.

The production of the well on Lease 57 of the Pittsburgh and Cherry run Petroleum Company's tract, Upper Cherry run, which was reported at one hundred and eighty barrels a day on Thursday last, is now down to one hundred barrels a day.

About a week ago a new well was struck on Lease No. 24 of the Blood farm. It is now yielding fifteen barrels a day. The working interest is owned by Mr. C. S. Whitney.

Within the last ten days the territory at Pithole has been extended somewhat by the finding of two new wells. One of these is on the McKinney farm, on the extreme northern part of the present known belt. It is yielding eight barrels a day, and is owned by the Second National Petroleum Company. The other, and the most important one, is located on the James Rooker farm, about one half of a mile south of the other producing wells. This well pumps twenty-five barrels a day, and is owned by Col. Vernon.

Mr. A. H. Bronson recently sold his nine producing wells on the Phœnix Oil Company's tract, West Pithole Creek, to that company. The average daily product of these wells during last month was reported at seventy barrels.

The product of the territory in West Virginia and Ohio is reported to be increasing. The following is the last estimate that we have obtained:

Smith's Ferry, Ohio, barrels per day about	250
Cow Run, " " "	300
Sand Hill, West Va., " "	100
White Oak, " " "	250
Oil Rock, " " "	50
Burning Springs, W. V., " "	300
Total barrels per day, - - -	1,250

The greater part of the increase is reported to have taken place within the last fifteen days. The product of the territory at Oil Rock was up to 100 barrels about ten days ago, but latterly it again fell off. The above total must be taken only as a high estimate. There is now, on the whole, but a comparatively small stock at the wells in West Virginia, as the late rains have, by causing frequent rises in the Kanawha, furnished increased means of transportation to the Ohio.

Canada oil is now attracting not a little attention on this side of the border, as it is generally supposed that it will soon come in active competition with the product of the United States. Last week sales of 10,000 barrels, Canadian refined, were made in New York, for export, at prices ranging from 28 to 29 cents per gallon. These sales have renewed the interest in the oil, and the production and stocks in Canada are subjects of general comment. We have at hand the figures of the Canadian Crude Oil Association, in regard to the production, from which it appears that during 1868 the total quantity produced in Canada was 180,000 barrels, and that the yield from January 1st to June 1st, this year, reached 70,000 barrels. The daily product during June ranged from 750 to 800 barrels, which would make the aggregate yield for the first half of this year 94,000 barrels, at the outside. There are now in Canada about sixty producing wells, and sixteen to twenty in process of drilling. The production on the 10th inst. was about 800 barrels. With regard to the present stock of oil in Canada there are various estimates, some of which set it down at about 300,000 barrels, and others at 350,000 barrels.

Great Reduction for Cash Only.

Owing to the death of the senior member of the firm, and the necessity of settling the estate immediately, we propose to make a great reduction in the prices of our entire stock of dry goods, commencing the sale on Monday, July 19th, and continuing until the first day of August. Many of the goods will be sold at much less than cost, and will comprise fall and winter, as well as summer goods. Those desirous of obtaining some of the greatest bargains ever offered in dry goods should not neglect this sale at the storerooms of J. W. Barker & Co., 59 Market street and 20 Sixth (formerly St. Clair) street. J. W. BARKER, JR., Administrator.
